The Body Politic Collection Description and Finding Aid

Accession Numbers

2014.001.001 - 2014.001.135

Physical Extent / Format

Dates

Nov/Dec 1971 - February 1987

Background Information

Started in 1971 by members of Toronto Gay Action and the University of Toronto Homophile Association, The Body Politic was one of Canada's first gay publications. The publication was run through a collective, with equal responsibility and power given to all members of the editorial staff. Although they aimed to be bimonthly, they followed a quarterly publishing schedule until 1974. A radical publication, The Body Politic was charged several times with publishing obscene materials, including running a piece on "Men and little boys", a comic strip showing a blowjob, as well as for an article on fistfucking, although acquitted every time. With an unwillingness to run corporate advertisement, The Body Politic could not keep itself afloat and was cancelled by 1987. However, the publishing company created to own it, Pink Triangle Press, still exists to this day. With the cancellation of The Body Politic, Pink Triangle ran the tabloid Xtra, in Vancouver, Toronto and Ottawa, although print publications ceased in 2015 and it is now digital content only. For a more thorough history of The Body Politic, see Rick Bebout's "On the Origin of The Body Politic".
